Writing Organization as Gendered Practice: Interrupting ...

Our overarching project in this essay is to render the gendered character of organization studies writing open for discussion; to disturb the taken-for-granted gender neutrality of the ways that organization studies is written, as well as to outline how it might be otherwise. The specific contribution we are led to is the setting out of the possibilities for, following H Line Cixous, a

Writing Organization as Gendered Practice:

Interrupting ...

While gender very much holds a place in organization studies, this is primarily in relation to being an object of study. Still largely silent and inexplicit is the gendered nature of what organization studies researchers themselves do when they research and write. Our overarching project in this essay is to render the gendered character of

Writing a Business Report - Victoria University of Wellington

Writing an effective business report is a necessary skill for communicating ideas in the business environment. Reports usually address a specific issue or problem, and are often commissioned when a decision needs to be made. They present the author's findings in relation to the issue or problem and then recommend a course of action for the organisation to take. The key to a good report is in

Character Reference Letter Example and Writing Tips

Think before saying yes. Before agreeing to write a character reference letter, be sure that you can write a positive and honest letter. If you cannot, it is better to say no; this will give the person the chance to ask someone who might write him or her a stronger reference letter.
